

The theory of everything:

You cannot fully describe the universe with less than all of it, but you won't need a bit more.